Public Relations Committee: Deborah Thornton, 338-5579

As a kickoff for the 2006 election campaigns, Todd Versteegh, Johnson County Republican Chairman today announced that the official Grand Opening of Johnson County Republican Headquarters, will be held Wednesday, August 30, 6 – 8 p.m., 36 Sturgis Corner Drive, Iowa City. Mr. Versteegh said that Republican candidate for Governor Congressman Jim Nussle will attend the ceremonies and cut the Grand Opening Ribbon at 7:00p.m.

Other Johnson County Republican candidates also attending the Grant Opening include State Senator Dave Miller and State Representatives Sandra Greiner and Jeff Kaufmann. Special guests will be Emma Nemecek, Republican candidate for Iowa House District 29, and Board of Supervisor Candidates Rich Benn and Alan Curry. Versteegh said, "We expect an excellent turnout for our Grand Opening. The Nussle campaign is bringing new and exciting ideas for Iowa's future and the Johnson County Republicans are proud to support Jim and are excited to help him and our candidates begin the stretch run to victory in the November elections. "

Additionally, Versteegh added, "Our current Johnson County Republican legislators, Sandra Greiner, Dave Miller and Jeff Kaufmann do an outstanding job of representing the citizens of the areas of Johnson County. Emma Nemecek is well on her way in defeating a long time incumbent in House District 29, which includes Swisher, Solon, and other strong Republican areas in northern Johnson County.

"In our Board of Supervisor races, Rich Benn and Alan Curry provide an excellent opportunity to elect new Supervisors who will actually represent the views of the residents, not special interests. It is high time that Johnson County had a change in government, and we feel the people of Johnson County deserve a diversity of views within our county government."

Versteegh invited any Johnson County voter who wants to meet the candidates to join him and the Republican Central Committee members at the headquarters, 36 Sturgis Corner Drive on Wednesday evening from 6 to 8 p.m. For more information please contact the Headquarters at 339-8381.
